The Hiawatha Corporation has blazed the trail as a pioneer in the world of evergreens within the beautiful Pacific Northwest. Hiawatha was formed in 1973 after Purdy Evergreens, founded by Richard Pasaich, merged with Northwest Evergreen owned by Larry Stevens. Northwest Evergreen had been doing business since 1938 in the Shelton, Washington area and Purdy Evergreen was Pasaich's brainchild after he worked for Kirk's Christmas Trees for several years. Today the company has continued to flourish, bolstering the economy of Mason County for nearly eighty years.

seventies and Hiawatha began producing and shipping Decorative Christmas greens and designer products. Dried products including moss and cones followed. In 1982 Hiawatha expanded, employing about 120 workers during Christmas production season with twenty five year-around employees. Business has significantly grown to where today Hiawatha hires around seven to eight hundred piece workers to produce and ship enough greenery to supply all their customers.

In the beginning, the former Northwest Evergreen, sold only fresh evergreen brush such as Salal and Huckleberry. After the partnership merged, operations diversified in the mid-Hiawatha's customer base consists of Wholesale Florists, Grocery Chains, Mass Market Retailers and the Craft Industry. The company has grown from its Shelton location to other business locations in British Columbia, Washington, and Oregon. Today, Hiawatha is a competitive international distributor who proudly implements practices of sustainability (MPS Certified), and is one of the largest suppliers of evergreen products in the world!
